

Seeking Comprehensive Sexuality Education Training Consultant

Cardea Services is a non-profit organization with offices in Oakland, CA, Seattle, WA and Austin, TX. One of our many areas of focus is providing support to school districts throughout CA in implementing comprehensive sexuality education programs. We provide teacher training, technical assistance and parent information and education workshops. We are looking for additional training consultants to increase our capacity to provide support in both Northern California (with a focus in the South and East Bay) and in Southern California, with the addition of state-wide and occasionally national travel. Consultants will facilitate our two-day curricula teacher trainings, school-based parent information events and our parent educational workshops on how to talk with your kids about sex. This would be an event-based consultant position.

Qualifications:

- Skilled training consultant
- Knowledgeable about comprehensive sexual health education
- Classroom experience (ideally teaching sex education but not required)
- Experience training adults (ideally teachers but not required)
- Experience working with parent and community groups around sensitive topics
- Ability to provide 2-day teacher trainings
- Ability to present occasional evening workshops to parents on sexual health content and skills

Desired but not required:

- Experience working with diverse communities
- Able to travel for multi day trainings throughout California and possibly nationally
- Bilingual - Spanish speaker

To apply:

Please send resume and cover letter to Johanna Rosenthal, jrosenthal@cardeaservices.org